

Bernie Sanders cements front-runner status with Nevada caucuses win

Early on Sunday morning, people turned to Las Vegas to get the result of a contest they'd been looking forward to for weeks. That's right, whilst Tyson Fury was defeating Deontay Wilder, the real heavyweight, Bernie Sanders, was smashing it up in the Nevada Caucus...

I am the greatest

FX: Camera flashes and general excited hubbub throughout

REPORTER 1: Mr Sanders, Mr Sanders, how do you feel after your stunning victory in Nevada.

SANDERS: (In the style of Muhammad Ali) I am the greatest, I said that even before I knew I was.

REPORTER 2: Mr Sanders, how do you respond to President Trump calling you 'Crazy Bernie' on Twitter?

SANDERS: Trump's too ugly to be President. The President should be pretty like me. If Trump even dreams of beating me, he better wake up and apologise.

REPORTER 3: Mr Sanders, are you just quoting Muhammad Ali?

SANDERS: Float like a butterfly, sting like a bee. His hands can't hit what his eyes can't see. Now you see me, now you don't. Donald thinks he'll win, but I know he won't.

REPORTER 2: Do you have any words for the other nominees?

SANDERS: I've wrestled with alligators, I've tussled with a whale. I've done handcuffed lightning and thrown thunder in jail. I've bid Biden goodbye and Warren farewell. I've put Buttigieg in the fridge and I'll beat Trump as well.

REPORTER 1: Sir, how do you respond to those that say you are too old to run, in that you would be 79 on Inauguration Day?

SANDERS: Age is whatever you think it is. You are as old as you think you are. And I don't think I'm that old. Am I?

REPORTER 2: Have you got any words for the American people as we head for Super Tuesday?

SANDERS: Bernie's got a left, Bernie's got a right, when he knocks you down, you'll sleep for the night, and when you lie on the floor and the ref counts to ten, you better hope and pray that Trump's not in the White House again.

REPORTER 3: Seriously, is no one else bothered that he's just quoting Muhammad Ali? Mr Sanders, please can we have straight answer to a question? (long pause where nothing is said.) Mr Sanders?

SANDERS: Silence is Golden when you can't think of a good answer.
